

The attached group of subjects with their attendant questions was assembled to suggest to the seminar groups, which will be organized during this course, topics for seminar reports. The queries represent many points of view, no one of them final or necessarily correct. Moreover, the topics are neither comprehensive nor exclusive. Any seminar group should feel free to select other topics for discussion and presentation.

The Intelligence Review Faculty offers under the topics presented some unorthodox and differing points of view in order to provoke debate and suggest resolution in a final report. There has been no attempt to guide or to indicate that any one solution is preferable to another.
